Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

Maybe we can expand on this topic here, just a little bit, we have to be careful now you see, the hawks are watching the mice in the field and this mice has the scars to prove it now. You always say I am so hot about the truth, you also said that in the interview. I still have those.

Maybe we have to do another one , one day, a more professional one, as the one we did was just a trial, a little test to see how things do work out with Skype and so on.

It was not too bad. Listened to it today. Although I am somewhat rusty in that talk, it s not an easy topic this " energy stuff".

It s like explaining the way a magnet works to people , hard to be done, I think.

The question is where do we take it from here ? As there are so many things going on, you see, so staying just on the energy work, for lack of a better word , ah I don´ know, it would be a bit hmm I don´t know, silly ? Like we avoid deliberately ALL other topics out there , you see.

That's how it may come across even though that is not the case as I know you are involved in thousands of issues at hand, fluoride, government corruption, water charge thing you got running there over in Ireland and tons of other stuff, these "free trade" scams etc etc.

The point is where do we go from here ?
We don't want to sound too quixotic here hmm.

Or we just leave it as it is , there is no harm in that, we are good at that, we do it for years now, you maybe a bit shorter but still.
So we have some experience in that , how it works, how it can be used so maybe we just stick with that.
That's fine with me.

Just checking perimeters here, that is all.

You know just as well the way things go now, this control grid crap and the rest of it , shutting down the internet, just the really good sites get affected not the BS sites or controlled ones, Alex Jones will never be taken down , just like Reptile Icke's website, he is doing European tours soon I heard, amazing.

I can't get my telephone working as it was blocked but gobshite Icke travels the planet as "troofer" gimme a fucking break...please gimme a break here.

I spend about two days now , just cleaning up the shit they caused , it's one big shite hole here now with electronics, accounts gone, emails gone, all flushed sites don't work anymore , damaged , can't login in most things, can't open new accounts at certain sites. All new normals.

the official term is gaslighting that is what's being done here to fuck me up

Gaslighting or gas-lighting is a form of psychological abuse in which a victim is manipulated into doubting his or her own memory, perception, and sanity.[1][2] Instances may range from the denial by an abuser that previous abusive incidents ever occurred up to the staging of bizarre events by the abuser with the intention of disorienting the victim.

The term owes its origin to the 1938 play Gas Light and has been used in clinical and research literature.[3][4]

Etymology[edit]

The 1938 stage play Gas Light, known as Angel Street in the United States, and the film adaptations released in 1940 and 1944 motivated the origin of the term because of the systematic psychological manipulation used by the main character on a victim. The plot concerns a husband who attempts to convince his wife and others that she is insane by manipulating small elements of their environment, and subsequently insisting that she is mistaken, remembering things incorrectly, or delusional when she points out these changes. The original title stems from the dimming of the gas lights in the house that happened when the husband was using the gas lights in the attic while searching for hidden treasure. The wife accurately notices the dimming lights and discusses the phenomenon, but the husband insists she just imagined a change in the level of illumination.

The term "gaslighting" has been used colloquially since the 1960s[5] to describe efforts to manipulate someone's sense of reality. In a 1980 book on child sexual abuse, Florence Rush summarized George Cukor's 1944 film version of Gas Light, and writes, "even today the word [gaslighting] is used to describe an attempt to destroy another's perception of reality."[6] voila, there you have it , that s the trick.

But dont worry I am cool , you know that.
Although it is upsetting and frustrating , obviously.
We are a few days in it and ah well, things are stable now.
Have calmed down about it.

So maybe, for future stability, it is safer if we just leave it as it is and just deal with the energy topic.
We are as good as in post democracy now, big time.
We will see more of it as the Orwellian boot comes down harder and harder.

I ll shut up about that hoopla now.

About time I got going with wonderful Life Pillows/Polarizers. Thanks to creative Ramona Adakausk for making these leather pouches for me today - I love them and of course they'll look even better when filled.

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

Oh Sunflower how very very annoying and frustrating - someone really has their knife into you. The phrase 'just because you're paranoid doesn't mean they are not out to get you' comes to mind. Thanks for giving me the honour/responsibility maybe I should practice a bit in case I have to take over, but hope it doesn't come to it.

Thanks for talking about the Life Pillows, very happy to get back making them, and excited to say just had an enquiry from someone about buying a couple - she is probably expecting about 5 euros each - how to tell her the going rate is/was 40 euros - don't think my neck is hard enough to quote that. However, they are nice and chunky weighing about 300 gms each, hope they 'spin'. I had to look up the archive for the recipe and am still surprised that the simplest mixture of seaweed and sand is as strong as the more complicated one. However, still like to put in some crushed/tiny crystals, and a few drops of essential oil and essences.

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

Today on Fxx book I called the elite cockroaches...maybe that did it , along with five hundred different "offences" like saying two and two equals four and some information about their clubs, they were not amuses and like to beat up the little peasant here. We are just peasant to them.

Been naughty they say and need some flogging to straighten me out I guess.

Their logic is always a bit different than ours.

You know we will never get to the bottom of this, you know that, nothing sticks on them, more like a sort of stalking you know, indirect.

Or maybe it is something completely different we will never know for sure.

Maybe they just get fed up now this free method finally starts taking a foothold, who knows for sure.

Nobody knows.

Let s be honest about it J, they never liked you too , you and your club there, the dissident bunch, there is nothing new to this.

They always hassle with us , chase us over the place, you know how it works , if you open your mouth too wide regarding the fluoride scam etc basically on anything if you open your mouth on any topic and dont sing the party line you are gonna have it , that s obvious enough.

well MG stated and that is true some tiny crystals , crystal powder should be added for a stronger output. 75 % sea weed, about 20 per cent good beach sand and about 5 per cent mixed tiny rock crystals , or and, rose quartz, any quartz will do but rose quartz has a nice effect.

*you could as Stephen does and hold a lighter next to it so we could see the size , dimension of it .
maybe a tip for the future.*

it is very nice of you to make these wonderful devices maybe you are the only one on the planet right now doing that

Thanks for the tip about using a lighter for scale, in this case a 2 euro coin will have to do. A fine dividing line between making something strong enough and something easy to carry around - I hope these are not too big at 5.5 cm x 4.25 cm.

This will be a bit 'woo' I suspect though not sure what that means.

My best friend of very many years, Marie, passed away on Saturday with her funeral rituals starting this afternoon with a little 'wake'. She has bravely gone through the whole gamut of operations, chemo and radiation but eventually decided 'enough is enough'. She was amazing right till a couple of days before Saturday, and this photo was taken in her home the previous Sunday, just 9 days ago.

We had many conversations about the afterlife, she had no time for this, although very spiritual she did not believe at all in an afterlife. We used to laugh about who would be right; who would win the bet.

A couple of weeks ago the image of an old family friend came into my head, 'Essie' - I felt it was a little message and the last time I visited Marie about 10 days ago I started talking to Marie about Essie, it was lovely to hear stories of their friendship. I was hoping to be able to talk to her about Essie being around to help her in her last hours.

So it came as absolutely no surprise to me to hear that a few days ago, as Marie was getting weaker, she looked past her daughter Jennifer and said she could see Essie, her mother and a deceased cousin Maeve. I smiled when I heard this and said to Jennifer (and to Marie) - now Marie, I've won the bet 😊

Another daughter Barbara told me that Marie held and rubbed the little heart I gave her recently; and would not part with it to her 😊

I poured this fine cone this morning in Marie's memory, I'm so happy it came out perfectly.

Plaster Paris thanks for sharing

Jenny Mortell There is an interesting report in one of Michael Newton's books about animals in heaven, haven't read it for a while but it's something like, there are animal 'keepers' in the spirit world and if you want to meet your animal pet they will 'summon' the pet for you.

BIG WORKSHOP

By Jenny

Will post the pictures, maybe Jenn can add some description later.

As it are a lot of pictures and uploading is not so easy to do on this forum structure I will be the guest of honor.

Very well Done , lady Jennifer, excellent, big win there.

Good vibes , lots of smiles and lots of LF Energy pieces shared among the public Good works can be done in thousands of ways but this is one of the best.

In one day you have done more than eh.. " EW" or " Warrior Matrix"in decades ...LOL ..wink..oh that hurt...

Who knows where it leads, hard to tell, who picks up on it and who not, etc, who rises up to the challenge later on.

I ll shut up now and start uploading...

What a great day doing a Selenite Workshop in the Dublin Food Co-op. It was brilliant meeting lots of parents and their gorgeous children; all zooming over to where I was; and waiting patiently for their turn: It was 'all go' from 11;30 to about 4, I think there could have been 20 children pouring, and a few adults. I don't think the floor in the Hall will ever be the same again: Photos to follow

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

That was some job uploading all those photos thanks Sunflower. I can hardly believe how tired I was after the experience yesterday much different to showing to a group of adults; it was sort of a Whistle Stop Test. I learned very quickly not to have 5 kids all doing it at the same time lesson learned there, 2 or 3 maximum. But must say it was a great success, so lovely to see the small groups of parents and children coming over to watch and asking politely if they could do it. And then asking could they bring home what they had made they were so happy. One girl at the end said (while jumping up and down) 'THANK YOU THANK YOU THANK YOU THANK YOU THANK YOU' so sweet.

They all grasped the concept of putting their 'intention' into it, and sometimes the parents helped. And lovely seeing them choosing which essential oil to add.

One young guy Daniel really wanted to make one of the big cones like on display. I was glad I'd brought some of the table mats, and quickly folded one up. It turned out really well. I think some people will follow up on it. One suggestion was I could do 'Children's Parties' lol: The horror of the children in their party gear going home to Mummy and Daddy 'plastered'. One Dad even had plaster in his hair :-)

I was lucky to have Anna come over every now and then she was able to help with the wrapping up - they all took this very seriously my large roll of bubblewrap didn't last long enough.

Wondering will I be asked back; a few of the members thought it was brilliant, the clean/tidy-minded people will say 'never' the place was wrecked as the floor can be seen in some of the photos.

At the beginning I poured quite a large 6 litre plaster cone, which cooked for the duration thanks to Anna's gentle tapping it emerged intact (as usual 'whew') and is now ensconced in a little alcove at the top of the steps. These premises should have a wonderful atmosphere from now on with one big cone and lots of little pieces here and there.

Jenny Mortell Thanks to Murielle for this little video. I was expecting it to be a run-through, otherwise I would have been to 'Hair Make-up and Wardrobe' :-) I can criticise myself for a few things, too much hand-waving and could have said things better, a bit garbled at times, but otherwise I think it's not a bad effort.

Murielle Celis I think you look fab the way you are! For a first trial it worked out pretty well, especially as it was already late in the day.

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

I had an interesting day on the Hill of Tara today with a group of about 25 people participating in a ceremony called 'Reclaim our Sacred Energy - Let's get Tara back. Quite a cold day on top of the windy hill, bit of drumming, chanting, talking, waving fire things around.

I brought along a lot of little Plasterite Selenite pieces and gave one to everyone which they held during the proceedings.

People seemed to love them, particularly the children.

Next time it will be near Newgrange, Knowth or Dowth or I may even persuade the group to come to our little local place Fourknocks.

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

rrrrreeeee I see...so you have been playing behind my back again, thanks ...LOL..well I hope you had fun hehe

Anyway.....as I am mostly on FB ,not posting much but usually chatting with the four , five heroes that are left...maybe do some postings here too so other public can enjoy it too. As for most aware people , like, me, FB is total hell on earth but that is just me.

So just pretend you did not hear that , keep shining.

Today I found out a method which you can use to ship parcels up to 20 kilo throughout Europe.

Within the EU.

For half of the price.

Voila.

Have tested it , it seems to work, next week they pick up my parcel from home, so you can spare yourself post office dramas too, and ship it to the destination within the EU, say the UK, Germany, Denmark, whatever and if that s not good enough they do it also 50 per cent faster than the regular post method.

you pay in advance , for shipping up to 20 kilo you pay about 50 € while in the regular post system you pay almost double and you have to wait a few days longer for it to arrive.

Anyway...;for some of you , who do such things , whatever, it might be very helpful.

Will save you a lot of bucks, for example Jenn can send her new batched of life pillow all over the place now.

They are still in the making, actually Ramona makes them or finishes them, the stitching and such of the motives and the rest of it.

Very very fancy polarizers. Ultra beautiful.

Top work.

Excellent leather is used and the whole thing is really a one of a kind experience.

Well it has never been done before.

Not like this it hasn't.

will do a few posts maybe

..and here they are out of the moulds, the two in the middle are Jenny's, for comparison. They will lighten up in colour as they dry out over the next few days. But it is suprising the different colours of plaster, I guess the whiter ones are purer as pure selenite/gypsum is white, my plaster will have different ingredients as its from a different quarry..... natural constituents may include clay, limestone and minor amounts of quartz. Additives may include minor amounts (less than 1%) of hydrated limeas long as they work I'm happy.

Jenny Mortell Perfectly unmoulded Greg, excellent. I really don't know why the difference; except the white is Plaster of Paris - it may have had the extra ingredients taken out, doubt if it's any better just different.

Greg Richardson ah, I didn't realize Jenny, thought it was just some sort of trade plaster, yes it will have been cleansed of the other ingredients.....must be quite a bit more expensive though...The first time I made selenite I used plaster of paris from a hobby shop..I think it was £5 for 2.5 kg...I can buy almost 25kg (ten times as much) ! for nearly the same price

Jenny Mortell Deffo not recommended to buy POP from a hobby shop - they know me in the shop I buy it from now and they give me a €2 reduction :-) so hardly any difference; at about €14 fr 25 kgs still more expensive than with you, but i'm not complaining. Though I stopped counting bags; must be over 100 by now.

Energie Kegel Actually it is the other way around as natural plaster of paris is white and pure, for some reasons they can put in additives for this that or the other, so most plasters are like that, with some sort of additives to make it harder or dry out faster etc.

The cheapest plaster is the best Plaster of Paris , as simple as that....See More Although Steve, from organite plus has discovered this a decade ago.....i will post this anyway,even if just as a reminder, it is all in the documentation.

The AMAZING Properties Of Selenite

If you are looking for one of the most versatile metaphysical stones that can help you cleanse your aura, clear all energy blockages, bring 5th dimensional energy into a 3rd dimensional matter and MUCH more, then selenite is for you!

Selenite is an element of creation. Intensifying the light frequency, the resurgence of Selenite enhances our consciousness. Returning to this energetic element and tool now, at this point in history, enables us to create and intensify new seeds of consciousness.

Selenite is extremely sensitive, and acts just like “liquid light” from the angelic realm and universe. The crystals’ striations (fine parallel grooves and narrow bands) are the pathways for the illuminated substance of Spirit. Selenite vibrates more on the spiritual level than on the physical, and resides on the threshold between pure white light and physical matter.

This crystal is capable of displaying total transparency, and is the very essence of dreams and visions. Selenite builds and acts as the bridge to merge the highest frequencies of light with the most subtle levels of form. It’s so sensitive, selenite will fracture or break around extreme negative thoughts.

Healing Properties of Selenite

The AMAZING Properties Of Selenite | In5D.com Selenite has a direct effect on the emotional body. However, unlike stones that soothe and calm the emotions, selenite activates the aspect of our nature connected to our true spiritual feeling and path.

These crystals are particularly effective in stabilizing the emotional body and bringing erratic emotions under calm control. Selenite is water soluble and will dissolve if left in liquid. This important characteristic is also a great metaphor of the inherent power of the crystal to melt away exaggerated emotions with the stabilizing light force of your “true nature and feeling”.

Selenite has a variety of specific transformational qualities:

Brings the fifth dimensional light into third dimensional matter.

Quickly opens balances and activates any chakra and is especial good with the third eye, crown chakra, and the soul star chakra above the head. It’s the most powerful clearing stone for the upper chakras. Cleanses the aura.

Clears and energize all the glands of the body.

Clears all blockages in the energy field.

Cuts cords of dysfunctional energy from the etheric body.

Ideal for purification and energetic cleansing, which makes it a perfect tool for healers.

Directs high frequency energy into the body, stimulating spiritual, physical and emotional healing.

Opens the inner self to the spiritual world.

Magnifies the energy of what ever is placed on it many times over (including other crystals).

Adds positive intentions into the energy body.

Elevates the frequency of physical matter and lowers the frequency of light, enabling a new substance to bring spirit into matter.

Acts as a tool for enlightenment as it heralds the link between spirit and matter.

Little painting session last evening, with Albane Letombe finishing off her creative papier mache mushroom with Plasterite in the base. She also did a lovely job painting an old half sphere, and left with a fairly weathered sphere that she intends covering in mosaic, looking forward to seeing the finished article. Less said about my painting attempt the better 😊 so the view counts are a bit sketchy...to put it very mildly...wink..

don't worry, there are plenty of views so yes , folk are aware to some extent at least.

I've been looking around the tutorials and some past posts, and I can't find any answer to this question. I'm painting my plasterite pieces, but I find it really needs a sealer. I like the look of lacquer but I don't like spray and fumes (and it is cold and windy outside) ... oh, and some skewey squirrel keeps stealing them! (laugh) I'm testing out Mod Podge ... but is that suitable for outside use?

What is your favorite sealer?

One thing I'm doing with plasterite is making molds out of rocks, painting them, and hiding them around town with a hashtag on them, so the finders can find me if they decide to look up the hashtag (I checked first for ones that no one seemed to be using). I post hints and pictures on my blog. I've done some pyramids, small cones, and spheres as well. Here are a few pictures ... will post more once I finish painting them.

Jenny Mortell What a great post Brandi and such cute and gorgeous pieces; bringing a smile to my face; well done; very inventive and creative. If there is something big I want to preserve, I paint it with clear yacht varnish. Acrylic paint does quit...See More Brandi Jasmine Thanks! I'm going to experiment with different things myself, I just hoped someone with more experience over time would have some insight. I'll have to keep an eye out for yacht varnish ... there is a marine supply in town, I'm sure. Thanks again!

Jenny Mortell It doesn't have to be yacht varnish Brandi, any paintable varnish will do. And great you are going to 'experiment' - nothing is set in stone here; everything can move on onwards and upwards hopefully.

Brandi Jasmine Yeah, I'm just impatient waiting for things to dry, then seeing how they hold up over time (laugh) ... though I do know spray lacquer held up for 2-3 years under some pretty rough conditions (wind, rain, snow, road salt, the occasional withering stare from a dude-bro) when I used it to seal a car I once painted. ;-)

Mari Newell der cool!

Maureen James Hoey Brandi there is a version of Mod Podge suitable for outdoor use, and a little goes a long way.

Brandi Jasmine I'll keep my eye out for it. I saw a review online and it suggested it was not as clear as regular Mod Podge. What I've done is try a few test swatches on a piece of painted wood. I have noticed when it rains, the regular Mod Podge gets cloudy and sticky but when things dry out it goes clear again. But it's only been outside for a week or so.

Jenny Mortell They are gorgeous Brandi Jasmine I love them. It's been said that Plasterite Selenite loves being decorated, and it shows here.

Brandi Jasmine I'm really enjoying it. Normally I cast in resin, but I sure like not dealing with the smell (laugh).

Jenny Mortell That's one of the main reasons Plasterite was 'invented' -the originators were not happy with the toxicity of resin.

New Website, this time for real

It is turning out really well, astonishing.
Also many more fancy features that are not available here.

<https://plasterorgonite.wordpress.com/>

Folk can comment there too, more easily, even anonymous
I do however check the comments first before unleashing them into the public... to keep things nice and tidy troll free

but it is a possibility

There is also a blog function, it just works very much easier than this forum, so we might hang out there most of the time.

Also very easy to put up galleries and such, integrate facebook and other mechanisms, like integration of html code, etc etc.

I thought it would be a good thing to start a new thread with the plaster, it may grow out the welcome post. Anyone desiring to look at the beginning of the plaster may go to the welcome thread. Today, I ran some experiments with what I call the Orgonite plus (some of you have pendants made of it) versus a same shape pendant made with plaster, crushed crystals and a pinch of copper powder, (for real may be half of 1/8 of a teaspoon), I wanted same size and shape to make an honest comparison. The people doing the testing were 6 women, all of them healers, energy workers, massage therapists two homeopathic doctors. They did not get to look at the devices, these were put in each hand and the question to them was: "what do you feel from one versus the other as far as life energy". I did this without having the ladies communicating between each other, as they did not hear any of the comments that was made
